Cuba Library Planning Committee Meeting

March 20, 2023

Present: Tom Donahue, Sharry Semans, Jill Schwab; Tina Dalton was attending a Zoom meeting and joined us shortly after the start.

We reviewed progress on the library's long range plan and addressed the following associated goals and other key areas of focus identified by Tina and committee members.

Goal: Maintain level of programs while increasing programs to underserved populations. (2020: Adult literacy programs will increase by 10% through partnership with the Cultural Center and Literacy West.)

Tina had identified a need for adult literacy services in the community, based on reports that existing agencies drop clients after a set time if they have not shown marked improvement. One adult member of the Cuba community who fell into this gap is presently being served by a volunteer. There have been other inquiries from adults seeking help with literacy.

Tina has applied for a grant to fund a literacy program. She expects a determination on the grant request to be made in April 2023.

We will begin a search for an adult literacy instructor(s). Jill suggested contacting St. Bonaventure University for possible student-tutors.

Post meeting update: Tom emailed Dr. René Hauser, dean of the School of Education at St. Bonaventure and director of the school's master's program in birth-to-grade-12 literacy to inquire about whether or not students would be eligible to be literacy tutors and if they would have interest in this. He also asked for guidance in finding tutors, if students are not eligible for this. He will report on what he learns.

Goal: To maintain the physical integrity and historic value while incorporating a well-functioning and energy efficient building that is welcoming and accessible to all. (6/2021: Have in place an adequate number of electrical and USB outlets.)

Tina had mentioned the need for additional USB outlets and was to raise this with architects/contractors undertaking the current renovation project. She reported that due to the fact there are different and often-changing USB cords and outlets it makes more sense for the library to have portable multi-port devices (boxes) that accommodate a range of USB cords. The library presently has an adequate supply of these for patrons to sign out while in the library. No need for additional hard-wired outlets.

Goal: Hire and maintain a staff that implements library procedures and services in the allotted scheduled time frame.

Is the library adequately staffed, understaffed, overstaffed? Tina has asked the committee to help with identifying and acquiring a staff evaluation tool that would help to determine if our current staffing level is appropriate.

It was pointed out that Tina is best able to determine on a day-to-day basis whether or not the present staffing level is what it should be, and it was recommended she monitor this.

In the meantime, she and Tom will both explore what assessment tools there are to help in determining proper staff numbers.

Goal: Maintain current technology devices and proactively implement upgrades and services.

Library computers have been replaced three times over the last eight years, thanks to regular awarding to the library of Manley Grant funds. There is no indication that Manley Grant funding will not continue.

Tina reported that numbers are sufficient to accommodate library patrons. She noted that in-house staff is capable of resolving many technology related issues and that when outside assistance is needed local vendors respond quickly and effectively. Library staff is tech-savvy enough to know when technology is under-performing and in need of replacement.

Other Matters: Cuba Library Mission Statement

In 2022, board member Lionel Legry asked the board to consider his proposed revision to the library's mission statement. The matter was tabled at the time and never revisited.

After some discussion and suggestions, the committee agreed to present to the library board a new mission statement that essentially blends the current mission statement with Lionel's version. It reads:

Cuba Circulating Library is dedicated to free and equal access to information, knowledge, and learning. We strive to nurture a lifelong love of reading, discovery and engagement among our diverse community through our collections, programs, and physical and virtual spaces.

The proposed revised mission statement will be presented to the full	board	J.

Planning Committee Update – April 10, 2023 Long-Range Plan Goal/Action: Develop an assessment for staff capacity

Dear committee members,

As you know, one of the goals in the library's long range plan is development of an assessment for staff capacity. Are we overstaffed, understaffed, just right? Are there tools to help in determining this?

The committee agreed that Tina is probably best able to determine proper staffing levels as she oversees the day-to-day operation of the library. But observation alone seems inadequate. Is there a way to provide some data to support one's "sense" that our staffing level is or isn't appropriate?

Assistance sought from STLS

I asked Brian Hildreth, executive director of the Southern Tier Library System, if there is an assessment tool to help us answer this question.

It's a "tough question" and there is no "magic bullet" answer, Brian said. He added:

"I actually did some research to see if there were any tools available for analyzing staffing levels of any library type. I also included your question in my running list of things that should be developed, or researched further. I really wasn't able to find anything that could be utilized by the library for making such decisions. There are several products on the market that are industry-specific, but nothing you would want to invest in, or utilize given the size of your current staffing levels."

Some things he suggested:

- 1. Yes, consult with your director (they will have a good pulse on what is needed for the front desk as well as for programs/outreach).
- 2. Work with director to analyze day, and time of day circulation statistics. This is a report STLS can help the library run to determine when the library is busy, and when it is slow based on in-library circulation statistics. Libraries also use this for reviewing hours of operation. (This has been done; some findings below and the report has been provided to you as a separate excel file.)
- 3. Survey staff. While their answers may have bias, they should give you a good read of when and how many people should be working.
- 4. Benchmark other libraries of similar size. STLS can run a report that shows how many full time equivalents similar libraries maintain. We would benchmark you with libraries across NYS that are rural, similar circulation statistics, similar - budgets, and similar door counts. This won't tell you when or where you need to staff, but it will give you an idea of how many staff you should employ.

- 5. Consult with your strategic plan, and library statistics in general. Does the plan prioritize programming or outreach? Do you have staff to meet this need, or existing staff who can do this work, but presently aren't focused on these goals? Is programming attendance flat, or declining? Maybe you do need more staff who can focus on offering more programs, or delivering outreach outside the library? (Most of these things are director type decision-making, but I am just trying to provide some guidance about how you can use your plan and current library usage statistics to make some good guesses about how best to staff the library).

STLS Report for similarly sized libraries across NYS

Brian ran a report for libraries across NYS that have total operating receipts of $275,000 to $375,000. His analysis:

There are 42 libraries in this group. I ranked Cuba Circulating Library on each measurable category compared to the other 41 libraries. See yellow highlighted Row 46 for ranks. I won't make too many observations for you because I like letting directors and trustees interpret their own data, but I will share two surface level thoughts:

- The library falls in the middle when it comes to full time equivalents (FTE), but there are few libraries with less Total Operating Receipts and overall Library Visits.
- 2. The library ranks in the Top 6-16 on really important measurable categories like Circulation, Program Offerings, Program Attendance, and Library Visits.

This second observation is a really good sign that the library's service program is strong, and everyone involved in delivering that service program is doing good work. I think this speaks to the director's leadership, the engagement of trustees, and the efforts and support of staff and volunteers.

Additional observations from me

• While we rank 32 of 42 in Total Salaries and Wages and 34 of 42 in Total Staff Expenditures, we rank near the very top (8 of 42) in Annual Hours Open for Main Library. In other words, we provide greater service than most while spending less than most; or, we ask more of our staff than most libraries, and they deliver.

Conclusion

While this report is not a magic bullet, it does serve as a helpful resource in our quest to develop an assessment for staff capacity. It may not directly solve the riddle of determining what size staff is the right size for us, but it does show that among libraries our size across the state we rank very favorably in key benchmarks. So, whether right-sized or not, we operate effectively and efficiently.

We should do as Brian suggested: Review the excel file and come to our own determination on its findings.

Emergency and Preservation Committee

The Committee met on March 23, 2023. Present were Tina Dalton, Sharry Semans and Wendy Sprague. We met with Amanda and Kate from the Documentary Heritage and Preservation Services of NY.

We reviewed a lot of information that Tina had previously furnished to them. They believe our emergency response policies are very good. We then discussed those policies in conjunction with preserving our history collection, which includes a lot of notebooks, genealogies, and other types of writings. Kate and Amanda took pictures of some of the collection. They will be writing a report, recommending how to house the collection, display it, and perhaps digitize some of it.

Dave Wagner and Colleen Robinson were also interviewed about the mechanics of the building, especially including info re heat and water, and cleaning products used around the books.

Notice of cancellation by your organization should be made to the Library Director as soon as possible. After 30 minutes a group may forfeit its reservation if it fails to appear as scheduled. If a group fails to show for two meetings in a row and does not call to cancel, all future reservations are forfeited until the group calls to reschedule.

Insurance

For events found to be consistent with the Library's charitable mission of education and information access and routine operations, no insurance is required.

For events that are consistent with the Library's charitable mission of education and information access, but exceed the library's routine operations, proof of adequate insurance, naming the library as "additional insured" will be required.

Examples of events requiring adequate insurance include but are not limited to: workforce training, meetings of organization's employees, physical education classes (such as yoga or dancing), CPR classes, use of power tools, cooking or food preparation, professional services, and anything medically related.
